Who is conducting this study: This study is being conducted by [redacted]

Purpose of the research study: The following research study investigates how individuals categorize statements about sexual assault as either facts or beliefs.

What you will be asked to do in the study: This questionnaire consists of a demographics section, a section about general statements and statements specifically about sexual assault. For each statement in the final two sections, you will be asked to choose the answer (strongly disagree, disagree, agree, strongly agree) that best describes your views about the statement. Then you will be asked to choose what percentage of various populations you think would agree with the statement from 0% to 100%, and to categorize the statement as either a fact or belief. In between the two statements sections, you will be asked to share three or twelve instances where you felt afraid. Lastly, you will be asked to answer a few more demographic questions.

Who can participate: You must be 18 years of age or older in order to participate. Must be living in the United States

Time required: Completion of this study will take approximately 40 minutes

Risks and Benefits: There are no foreseeable risks to participating in this research. Your participation in this study will contribute to knowledge about beliefs surrounding sexual assault.

Confidentiality: All of the information we gather for the study will remain confidential. We will protect your confidentiality by giving you a unique identification number. Your name and any other information that could be used to identify you will not be included in the data collected from you. Your IP address will not be saved. No personally identifying information will be publicly disseminated in a published report, journal article, or presentation.

Voluntary Participation: Participation in the study is entirely voluntary. It is entirely up to you to decide whether or not you would like to participate in this study. If you decide to participate, then it is assumed that you will provide a response for each question.

Right to withdraw for the study: You also have the right to withdraw from the study at any time without penalty
